

SLIT MAIL POUCH FOUND HERE CLUE TO MAIL ROBBERY

Amateur Pilferers Got
Little for Hooking
Sack of Mail.

ONE UNDER ARREST

Two Suspects Believed to Have Taken Train
Out of City.

Notice to all persons who had mail going out from Ada to Shawnee on the night of October 18, to duplicate their communications was sent out today by Assistant Postmaster Wilbur Lee following notice from Shawnee that part of the mystery surrounding the theft of a mail bag from the Katy depot here on that night has been partly cleared up.

A man who gave his name as Howard has been arrested at Shawnee in connection with the robbery and further investigation on the part of postal authorities is pending.

No information was given out here at the time of the robbery, according to Lee, and investigations were carried on quietly at both ends of the line. Only recently the Shawnee mail pouch, slit at the bottom, was found here near the old "hobo camp" between the cotton compress and the glass plant. Fragments of burned letters found near it served further to identify it as the one that was taken from the Katy depot.

Postoffice officials here characterize the robbery as an extremely amateurish attempt. Two mail sacks, one to Oklahoma City and the other to Shawnee, were in the depot on the night in question. Three men were looting around the station, railway officials said, and the theory is held that a long wire was used to hook the Shawnee bag, which was laying well back from the door of the room. It was only by flitting the bag and removing its contents little at a time that it could have been taken from the iron grating in the door, Lee said.

Two men, believed to have been implicated in the robbery left Ada on the Frisco the same night, it is said. Both are alleged to have been connected with hi-jacking escapades in this part of the state previously. Howard has confessed his part in the robbery according to reports that reached here today.

Little matter of commercial importance was in the Shawnee bag, according to the local postmaster. The arrest of Howard is said to have followed an attempt to cash one of the wholesale company's checks contained in the pouch. Only a small amount of mail, mostly orders to wholesale companies at Shawnee, was in the sack.

PRINCE OF WALES TO CHALLENGE U. S. FARMERS

(By the Associated Press)

CALGARY, Alta., Oct. 31.—The Prince of Wales will compete against the farmers of the United States and Canada for blue ribbons at the International Livestock Show at Chicago Nov. 26 to Dec. 4.

Prof. W. L. Carlyle, who has charge of the Prince's ranch at High River north of Calgary, and Prof. Hutton, animal husbandry expert, have been appointed by the Alberta government to select livestock of all kinds to represent the province at the great international exposition.

The most interesting part of Alberta's exhibit perhaps will be stock from the Prince's ranch which he purchased when he visited Canada in 1919. It has been stocked with blue-blooded animals from the most fashionable herds of England and now has flourishing breeding herds of race horses, Shorthorn cattle, Shropshire sheep and Dartmoor ponies.

New Guinea is a German colony which was seized by the British during the war. It is now under a protectorate administration by Australia.

JURY DUTY FINE CURE FOR HER NERVOUSNESS

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 31.—Jury duty is recommended as a cure for nervousness by Mrs. Grace Schmidt of this city. Until she served as a member of the jury which tried Bobby Hunt on a charge of murdering a policeman, she said, she had been a sufferer from nervousness that for nearly a year threatened serious complications.

"Jury duty proved to be my panacea and I hope I may be called again," Mrs. Schmidt declared. "The morning they summoned me I was cleaning house. All the way to the court house I was scared. I had never been in court before. I made up my mind I would not be accepted but I was."

"When I was seated in the tentative jury I noticed I was losing sight of my home worries. As the case continued I became so interested that the things uppermost in my mind were the facts being presented by the attorneys."

"The immensity of the troubles of the old gray-haired mother sitting there so completely overshadowed mine that I became conscious of a strange but pleasant fact—I could think coherently and I had completely forgotten about my worrying."

CASTLEBERRY NOW BACK IN CUSTODY

Third of Originals Taken on Bank Robbery Charge
Is Located Again

The return to the county jail last night of Claude Castleberry, one of the three men originally arrested in connection with the robbery of the Farmers State Bank of Fitchburg on the afternoon of September 30, stood today as latest development in the case. An order raising the bond of Arthur Gotcher, Claude Castleberry, and Ed Stewart from $5,000 to $10,000 was made last Monday by District Judge J. W. Bolen and Stewart and Gotcher were returned to jail but Castleberry could not be found.

Five persons are scheduled to have a preliminary hearing Wednesday morning before Justice of the Peace W. H. Fisher on the bank robbery charge. Two others, Charles Thompson and Arthur Gotcher, have admitted their part in the robbery, according to officers. Gotcher pleaded guilty last week and was sentenced Saturday afternoon by Judge Bolen to serve 10 years in the state penitentiary. His full confession is expected to be made known at the preliminary of the others. Thompson also will give testimony for the state.

Three women, wives of Gotcher, Castleberry and Stewart, are facing charges of being implicated in the robbery. Stewart and Castleberry had not made their $10,000 bond up to noon Monday. Gotcher's confession is believed to have revealed to officers the location of part or all of the $1800 that was taken by the unmasked robbers of the bank.

PATTERSON SPEAKS AT STONEWALL DEDICATION

Dr. N. P. Patterson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, dedicated the principal address at the dedication of the new $25,000 school building at Stonewall Sunday afternoon.

A full house greeted Dr. Patterson who was enthusiastically cheered when he commenced the initiative exercised by Stonewall in getting the new building and the care that had been manifested in selecting teachers for it. Dr. Patterson returned to Ada on a late afternoon train to fill his pulpit here.

New Charges Filed.

New charges filed in county court are: Jess Williams, transporting; Rance Jones, loitering in dark town; and C. M. Middleton, loitering in dark town.

WILL RATION FOOD TO IMPROVE HIS CHICKENS

COALGATE, Oct. 31.—No longer will the poultry in Coal county have to hustle for the protein in their rations, if plans made by W. T. Yoakum during a poultry culling demonstration are carried out. Mr. Yoakum is county agent of Coal county.

He has decided to emphasize the rationing of flocks in every demonstration made this year, so that trouble with egg laying will be minimized, he says.

From one flock of 38 chickens, seven were turned back into the yard and the remainder sent to market by the agent. He explained, and the farmers attending grew satisfied as the demonstration continued, why no eggs had been obtained.

NESTOS' LEAD IN GOVERNOR'S RACE GOES DOWN TODAY

(By the Associated Press)

FARGO, N. D., Oct. 31.—Returns from 29 additional precincts today, made a further cut in the majority of R. A. Nestos, independent candidate for governor, in the Friday recall election to 875 out of 2,086 precincts in the state, giving Nestos 106,976 and Governor Lynn J. Frazier, non-partisan, 98,151 votes.

This represents a total of 206,127 votes tabulated, out of an estimated total of 220,000 in which Nestos' majority stands at 8,825. In the 2,113 additional returns received today, Frazier made a net gain of 457, a leading ratio of about 3 to 2.

LOVE COUNTY FARMERS ARE LEAVING COTTON

(By the Associated Press)

MARIETTA, Oct. 31.—Love county farmers are getting away from cotton as their money crop, without making any radical change, Herbert F. Waters, county agent, states in his report to the state department of agriculture. One of the methods adopted aroused interest in cream shipments, he said, fourteen can of cream were shipped out of the county the second week after the farmers decided to turn gradually to other industries.

"The fourteen cans shipped may not seem such a large number but it is fourteen more than could be found two months ago," Mr. Waters said. A dairy school is planned for the near future, he announced.

Only Public Can Settle the Issue Of Rewarding Soldier, Emery Says

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 31.—The issue of national adjusted compensation for the ex-service man has not been at all settled, John G. Emery, national commander of the American Legion, declared here today in his address opening the third annual convention of the Legion.

"Such means as were used last summer to beat adjusted compensation cannot ultimately succeed," Commander Emery told the Legion. "Nothing is settled until it is settled right."

"The American people are the court of last resort and wherever the American people have by the ballot passed judgment on the matter of adjusted compensation that judgment has been an endorsement of the Legion's stand."

"I cannot conceive of a Congress so derelict in its duty, so unmindful of its duty, so unmindful of its just obligation to those who served their country at great financial loss, or so blind to the wishes of our people as to be misled again into refusing to adjust the economic balance between the man who went to war and the man who did not."

Legion Gains Ground.

Commander Emery reported that "in the face of adverse industrial conditions, which have hit the ex-service men harder than any other class, the Legion has gained in strength and its financial position has steadily improved."

He suggested that the political clause in the Legion's constitution, which "will not permit any one who holds or is seeking a salaried elective public office to hold office in the Legion or in any department or post thereof," be extended to include appointive offices. He added that he felt that "no person in public life, in community, state or nation, should be allowed to speak for the Legion, and that the Legion must be allowed to continue to speak for itself when issues involving service men are concerned, and then interns which the world will understand."

Major John G. Emery.

Commander Emery paid high tribute to the late Commander Frederick W. Galbraith Jr., who was killed in an automobile accident. He said his one aim had been to carry through the great program which Commander Galbraith had left unfinished.

A notable public service of the past year, Commander Emery pointed out, was the "frustration of a nation-wide German propaganda campaign in the United States." This, he said, was to start with a series of "Rhine Horror" meetings.

Commander Emery said, "As you will remember, Galbraith did not wait that long before he spoke. He told Von Mach on the spot what he thought of him and his project. The Legion prepared immediately to organize counter demonstrations where ever the pro-Germans might carry out their pre-conceived program. Most of these meetings were never held, however, for Von Mach abandoned his scheme after one disastrous attempt at Madison Square Garden."

Vet Bureau Triumph.

The greatest Legion achievement of the year, Commander Emery said, was won for the disabled service men, its vigorous efforts resulting in creation of the Veteran's Bureau.

"The last national work undertaken by the legion has been for the relief of comrades who are unemployed," Commander Emery continued. "It is a duty of the legion to extend every aid to these comrades and a duty which I know the legion will not fail to perform," he said.

Abroad, Commander Emery reported that a movement was on foot in France to consolidate the numerous veterans' associations there into one united effective body.

"It is a singular tribute to us that the name proposed for the new organization is 'Legion Francaise,'" he noted. "In Great Britain, too, the American Legion is the pattern after which the ex-service groups are being reformed and brought together under the name of the British Legion."

DEBS MAY BE FREED WHEN PEACE IS MADE

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Eugene V. Debs, socialist leader, will be released from federal prison soon after the proclamation of peace with Germany is promulgated, it was learned today from a source close to President Harding.

The exact technical procedure under which this is to be done was not disclosed but, it was stated emphatically that the doors of the Atlanta prison will swing open for the veteran socialist leader within a short time.

President Harding is also considering the cases of nearly a hundred other political prisoners, but so far as could be learned he has not finally made up his mind regarding them. Indications, however, are that they too will receive favorable decisions.

The White House indicated today that President Harding will announce his plan for dealing with the whole question as soon as the proclamation of peace is promulgated probably within a week or ten days.

MAY CALL GRAND JURY ON WHISKY

Bootlegging is Source Big
Percent of Other Crimes
Says Bolen.

The calling of a special grand jury to investigate alleged wholesale liquor operations in Pontotoc county has been threatened by District Judge J. W. Bolen since the closing Saturday of the regular criminal term of court, during which frequent intimations of liquor deals were made in connection with the trial of other cases.

In one hearing on a charge of manslaughter, three witnesses, the defendant and two others, admitted on the stand having bought and sold large quantities of whiskey.

Although nothing definite toward calling the grand jury has been reported, it was generally intimated that this was the first rumblings of a sentiment that favors such action.

Bootlegging operations were flayed mercilessly by the judge who declared grandjurymen, brought together from all points in the county, would have accurate information that would be impossible to obtain under any other circumstances. A large percent of other crimes in the county now traceable to whiskey and bootleggers are in the last analysis, responsible, he asserted.

In contemplating the calling of a grand jury to meet in December, Judge Bolen said, he desired to cast no reflections on the work of the county attorney or the county sheriff's force which, he said, had been performing their full measure of duty to curb and stifle the liquor business in Pontotoc county.

Investigations by a grand jury would bring to light some startling situations, he declared.

BRYAN COUNTY YOUTH THIRTY-FOUR BREEDER

(By the Associated Press)

DURANT, Oct. 31.—The fictitious tale of the boy who made numerous trades of his jackknif in "backed off the boards" by a truthful story of a Bryan county pig club member, according to Gerald B. Dunlap, county agent.

Eddie Treanwell, 17 years old, drew a gilt pig through the banks of the county on an endless chain plan, February 17, 1920. This gilt farrowed seven pigs, five boars and two gilts, and when they were seven and one-half months old, he put them in the pig club show, at an average weight of 275 pounds.

At the show he won $36 in prizes, and returned two gilts to the bank.

He next traded three boars for three gilts, sold one boar for $100, traded one gilt for a young horse, and bred the original sow and two gilts for a spring litter, and all of them farrowed. From these litters, he has sold $254 of gilts and at present has left the original sow, two gilts, one boar, seventeen shoats, twenty-one pigs and his horse.

He says he has done this by following advice sent out from the county agent's office.

President Pledges a Hearty Devotion to Cause of Fighters

CONVENTION HALL, Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 31.—The American Legion held the first session of its third annual convention here this morning, heard Vice-President Calvin Coolidge, speaking as a representative of President Harding, tell its members that they were heirs of the patriotic ideals of Lincoln, Washington and Roosevelt, and adjourned for luncheon.

The convention opened with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by Madame Schumann-Heink. She was presented by John G. Emery, national commander of the Legion, as "Mother" Schumann-Heink. With eyes flashing and an American flag held aloft upon a standard, the white haired singer poured out her voice to her "boys."

Much convention business was accomplished, including Commander Emery's report and an address in which he discussed the accomplishments of the Legion during the past year and its aims for the future.

The convention got down to business early. A report of the committee on permanent organization recommended that ten national committeemen with representatives from each state be maintained. This was adopted. Speeches on the convention floor were limited to five minutes when the delegates adopted the rules committee's report. United voting by delegates will not be permitted.

At the request of Commander Emery, the convention arose and stood for a half minute in silent tribute to the memory of the late F. W. Galbraith, national commander of the Legion, who was killed in a motor car accident near Indianapolis last June. Mr. Emery then proceeded to deliver his report to the convention.

Prolonged cheers greeted Commander Emery's charge that congress had been forced to bow to the will of the executive committee in the matter of delaying legislation for soldier compensation. The national commander asserted that President Harding held a conference with a group of anti-compensationists and then went before congress to urge that legislation be recommitted.

More cheers greeted Mr. Emery's declaration that the legion was in the compensation fight to stay and that it would make its stand known to the world in unmistakable terms without consideration of party politics.

The convention arose and cheered as Vice-President Calvin Coolidge was escorted to the platform.

Mr. Coolidge was presented to the convention by Mr. Emery. Another demonstration followed, the crowd again standing.

CONVENTION HALL, Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 31.—

Convention Hall where the national convention of the American Legion opened its session today, was early astir with delegates. Bands and drum corps were blaring military music and a haze of tobacco smoke lent an Indian summer touch to the bright colored decorations.

"The 'buddies,' apparently in no way discouraged by a night of 'milling' shouting, singing, holding street corner re-unions, to the tune of motor horns, sidewalk dancing, and an endless marching and counter marching, began filling the hall shortly after 8 o'clock."

A great many of the delegates and visitors were wearing war uniforms apparently having put them on for the duration of the convention.

Thousands of spectators came early and filled the balcony and the galleries, while the floor of the hall was given over to the delegates.

Representatives from Alaska, the Canal Zone, Hawaii, the Philippines, Porto Rico, Turkey, Africa, France, Italy, Spanish Honduras and the British Isles, raised their standards on the floor, in addition to the delegates from every state.

Women in red cross workers costumes among the spectators were conspicuous in their white dresses, with crimson crosses on caps and sleeves.

Harding Is Loyal.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 31.—Nothing is closer to the heart of President Harding than to make the relief for incapacitated war veterans as soon as possible; no man not in the service and their dependents ation of what that service meant, of the sacrifices made by the veterans.

ATTENTION, CITIZENS OF ADA

Thus far only a third of the required number of rooms have been listed for the Educational Association Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The reputation of the city is at stake. We must entertain these people in our homes, as there are not enough hotels to accommodate more than a very small number.

You are not being asked to take these people for nothing. The teachers expect to pay a fair price for their room and breakfast. You need not serve breakfast if you prefer not to do so, though this would be agreeable accommodation.

Don't think because you live far from the Normal you cannot entertain the teachers. Free automobile service will be furnished, and the distance makes little difference.

We cannot afford to neglect this opportunity. Will you do your part? If so, telephone without delay Miss Cunningham or Mrs. Carter at 92 or 86. The authorities must know not later than Tuesday. Call now before you forget about it.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
A VERY NEEDFUL PRAYER.—Show me thy ways, O Lord: teach me thy paths. Let integrity and uprightness preserve: for I wait on thee.—Ps. 25:4, 21.

FORCE OF ADVERTISING.

The American people learned during the war what advertising can do. Wm. G. McAdoo recognized this better even than many publishers. When he suggested putting over a sale of five billion dollars in bonds, he was laughed at. But he put it over, and advertising, reinforced by personal appeals, did it. Now what conclusion can we draw from this? We believe we have poor business, but getting business in the face of the present conditions does not present as difficult problem as selling bonds and raising billions of dollars in donations. Along this line W. H. Rankin, nationally known as an advertising expert says:

"I believe advertising can help just as much now, in this unemployment problem, as it did in any of the campaigns exploited during the war, and that is particularly true in regard to the matter of price reduction.

"I happen to know that the concerns that led the way in price reduction are today six months ahead of those who have not, and I also know that price reduction has stimulated buying and that advertising is the only way to let the people know where they can now buy goods at prewar prices and on a basis where the long margin of profit has been cut down to a fair margin.

"I believe advertising may be used not only to convince the public that they should buy products that are now being advertised at a fair price, but can also be used to convince the manufacturers that they should not only reduce their prices, but use advertising space to let the public know that now is the time to buy."

COTTON BELT COMING

Rube Geers in his Tishomingo Capital-Democrat is much worried over the traffic the Cotton Belt Highway is getting. Rube comments thus:

"Mr. Business Man of Tishomingo, have you realized that nine-tenths of the tourist traffic from the north is missing our city? Well it is. They are now going down the Cotton Belt from Mill Creek to Troy, Ravia and Madill. They have a good road that way and will continue to go that way. Coming up from Texas by the way of Durant tourists arrive here alright, but do you know that three-fourths of them go via Ravia and Troy to Mill Creek? Why? Because it is the best road. Do you know that when our good road is completed and that if it goes west—traffic from the east will keep right on west on the good road—and traffic from the north will take down the Cotton Belt and Ravia where they will take the good road south and west? Better give this a little thought. Already we have lost a great deal of the tourist traffic and will continue to lose it. Isn't this worth serious consideration before it is too late?

You are right, Rube, traffic will follow the best road; it always has and always will. That is why we got busy, spent our money to mark the highway, and intend to spend more money to keep it up. Good roads, good schools, good churches—give us these things, and other things will be added unto us.

ADA RANKS FOURTEENTH.

In point of population Ada now ranks fourteenth among Oklahoma cities, according to the census of 1920. In 1910 it ranked seventeenth but during the decade outdistanced Altus, Durant, Hugo and El Reno but lost to Okmulgee, which was a few hundred behind Ada in 1910. The gratifying feature about it is that this growth has been steady and not the result of a mushroom boom.

Here are the first fourteen cities in order of rank: Oklahoma City, Tulsa, Muskogee, Okmulgee, Enid, Shawnee, Bartlesville, Ardmore, McAlester, Guthrie, Sapulpa, Chickasha, Lawton, Ada.

The federal reserve bank of New York is coming in for some severe criticism on account of the big salaries paid its employees, especially the heavy increases in a number recently. According to a list published by the Manufacturer's Record the highest paid man recently got a raise from $30,000 to $50,000. Another jumped from $4,000 to $25,000 while two others were raised from only $1,500 to $10,000. These are only samples. Of course this is paid by the borrowing public in advanced interest rates. If the same condition prevails in other reserve banks it is plain that their discount rates will not be reduced any time soon.

The Evening News

Will Not Be Sandbagged.

(Bartlesville Examiner)

Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, says, "the government can prevent the strike by taking over the roads, and this is what will happen eventually." This statement reveals the purpose of the strike, which is hopeless from the ordinary strike standpoint. Mr. Stone shows that the strike was called, not for the purpose of forcing the railways to accede to the demands of the unions, but for the purpose of forcing the government to take over the roads in the crisis and compel the nationalization of the railroads against the will of an overwhelming majority of the citizens of the nation.

For every equitable claim, the railway employees are entitled to full and careful consideration and sympathy, but they are entitled to nothing but censure for the attempt to put over the governmental ownership of railways—through the media of a paralysis of the business of the country which compels the government to take over, in the emergency, a business which the unions feel they can then maneuver to make the government keep.

Everything within the past four years has been against the extension of government ownership. Government ownership kills initiative, destroys the competition of service and breeds indifference and incompetency. Governmental operation means the railroads would become an indirect political issue and powerful interest, both labor and capital would struggle for mastery. Policies would fluctuate with administrations and changes of heads within the administration, much as has been the case with the shipping board, and the chances are the railway business would not be any more successful than the shipping board business has been.

The unions are begging the issue and taking Uncle Sam out into a blind alley where they feel they can legally slug him into economic death. If the railway employees have a just grievance the American people will not be sandbagged under any pretext or plea. If the railway management, as is intimated, also wishes to unload upon the government and have the people pay for their mistakes through taxation, they are barking up the wrong tree.

After most of the discoveries and inventions of man, made in laborious fashion, it is usually found that the same thing exists in the world of nature and could have been put to our uses long ago and very easily by the simple process of observation. For instance, it took a great war and its needs to make us develop the principles of camouflage right along ever since the world began. None of the effects applied to battleships by the scientific artists was unknown to her. The Zebra may be said to be a glaring example of this fact. Because of his pronounced stripes, his outline at a distance is broken up, so that he can't be seen at all. Like the camouflaged ship, his visibility is low. The markings of other animals serve similar purposes most of them through likenesses to the flora in which they live. But the men who discovered the basic principles of camouflage didn't learn their lesson from animal life, but worked it out for themselves, from artists' knowledge of light and color. Mother nature has infinite information on an open page ready for our use; but it seems that we have to work it all out painfully for ourselves before we can recognize her teachings.

EMBARGO LIFTED ON FREIGHT, NEW ORDER IN TEXAS

(By the Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 31.—An announcement was made this morning by General Manager, E. G. Goforth of the International & Great Northern that the embargo of freight on the company's lines had been lifted, with the exception of cars offered by other lines passing on the company's lines in Houston.

"We are prepared to handle all business offered elsewhere on our lines, and the free movement of freight on the Houston municipal belt terminal road, serving this shipping channel," he said. "Reports indicate that 26 freight trains moved on our lines Friday and that the yards handled all business offered."

Mr. Goforth stated that he had heard nothing from union chairmen with reference to a conference in Houston Monday and could not state what the attitude of the company would be in the matter of re-employment of the striking trainmen should it be asked.

Foreign Nations Are Watching State Make War on Tuberculosis

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 31.—

Switzerland and the Philippine Islands equally are interested in the program of the Oklahoma Public Health association, particularly in the program of tuberculosis prevention, according to J. Schmitz, general secretary of the association. In the past month, requests for literature of the Oklahoma organization has come from Geneva, Switzerland; Jerusalem, the Philippine Islands and Mexico City, Secretary Schmitz stated.

The Oklahoma association is second to none of the state associations in states of equal size with Oklahoma. Dr. Charles J. Hatfield, managing director of the National Tuberculosis association, told officers of the state association when he left the city, following his attendance at the Oklahoma Public Health conference here this month.

Mr. Hatfield, who has inspected nearly every one of the state associations, was unstinted in his praise of the four-year-old organization here.

Secretary Schmitz is a member of the committee of three composed of officers of the national association to draw up publicity material and sales plans for the 1921 Tuberculosis Seal Sale, which is to start in Oklahoma December 1 lasting through the fifteenth.

FOCH WILL VISIT LAFAYETTE ROOM

French Commander to See Old Suite that Former General Used.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 31.—Plans for Marshal Ferdinand Foch and Gen. John J. Pershing to visit Nashville November 4, when the Thirtieth Division Reunion will be held here, have been approved by the American Legion committee in charge of arranging the marshal's itinerary while in the United States. General Pershing has sent his acceptance of the invitation.

While here, Marshal Foch will be taken to the Hermitage, home of Andrew Jackson and a shrine of which much of the nation's history is connected. He will be shown the room which Lafayette occupied while a guest of General Jackson and which is still preserved as the "Lafayette room." Lafayette spent several days there with "Old Hickory" during his visit to the United States.

It has been arranged, too, for the marshal to inspect the Old Hickory Powder Plant, which, when the armistice was signed, was turning out a million pounds of powder a day as an example of the rapidity with which war work was being pushed in the United States. Begun after this country entered the war, the "Old Hickory" plant was three-fifths complete when peace came. The completed establishment was to have cost approximately $85,000,000. The Thirtieth Division will continue its celebration through November 5.

For once more, at least, the governor of North Carolina will have an opportunity to make his traditional remark—"It's a long time between drinks"—to the governor of South Carolina, for both of these chief executives will be guests of Governor Alfred Taylor of Tennessee during reunion here.

Cakes fit for a king or president, literally, will be served to the boys, for Mrs. Elizabeth Lyle Wilson, who has an international reputation for fancy baking, is in charge of this work. It was Mrs. "Betty" Lyle Wilson who baked the wedding cake for Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson. A Thanksgiving cake, baked by her for President Taft in 1912, was kept on display in a glass case at the White House until Christmas of that year.

So the quality of sweets to be provided for the boys, in this instance, puts eating out of the ordinary category of things taken for granted.

Barbecue, characteristic of this section of the country, will also be served in the free dinners to 10,000 former service men.

Awarded for heroism medals during the world war, twelve were won by the "Old Hickory" Division. Eight of the winners are living, and will be entertained at this reunion as guests of the division. They are: Lieut. James E. Dozier, Sergt. Gary Evans, Sergt. Richard H. Hilton, Corp. John C. Villepique of the 118th Infantry; Calvin J. Ward, Sergt. James E. Barnes, Sergt. Edward R. Talley of the 117th Infantry; Sergt. James B. Adkinson of the 119th Infantry.

Football games, wrestling matches, boxing, dancing and plenty of amusement have been planned for the visiting former doughboys. The soldiers will be billeted in Nashville homes during their stay.

HE FEELS BETTER THAN FOR YEARS

"I had been a sufferer from catarrh for five years and Tanlac is the first thing I have ever gotten hold of that did me any real good," said B. S. Williams, 306 North Broadway, Oklahoma City. "For the past four or five years I also suffered from nervousness and stomach trouble and my circulation was bad. Everything I ate soured on my stomach and filled me up with gas which made me miserable for hours. I was restless at night and felt tired and worn out during the day. My whole body was wrecked with pain and I was losing ground steadily."

"I feel better since taking Tanlac than I have in years, have a better appetite, my digestion is better and I am sleeping sounder. 24 JURORS CALLED FOR CIVIL DOCKET IN DISTRICT COURT

Twenty-four men, four from Ada, have been summoned as jurors for the civil session of the district court to open here November 7, according to records in the court clerk's office.

Local men on the list were W. P. Lee, Roy Tidwell, Walter Miller, and Miles Grigsby. Others called are W. R. Ryecraft, Chism; B. J. Downing, Center; J. N. Lillard, Okman; Henry Williams, Fitzhugh; T. L. Stephens, Francis; C. O. Martin, Stonewall; Starr Morris, Allen; P. D. Dixon, Vanoss; S. A. Kellog, Francis; J. W. Hood, Bebee; M. Parker, Roff; D. L. Morris, Francis; S. Y. Barnard, Roff; Gordon Durham, Stonewall; George Crumley, Allen; S. B. Berry, Roff; H. J. Horton, Center; M. L. Carter, Maxwell; and Bud Moore, Fitzhugh.

A total of 191 civil cases are listed on the docket, which is to run from Nov. 7, to Nov. 18 and more probably will be listed before the court goes into session. This is one of the longest civil dockets to be tried by the district court here in years and is expected to require an extra session of the court for its completion. It follows closely on the heel of a strenuous criminal session of the court which ran for more than three weeks.

IN SOCIETY

Lodge to Entertain.

A joint entertainment by the Odd Fellows and Rebekah lodges will be given this evening in the I. O. O. F. hall at which all members and friends will be invited guests. Elaborate preparations have been made for the affair, a luncheon being one of the chief events on the program.

This is the first joint entertainment to be given by the lodges in some time and a good attendance is expected. Committees on entertainment report that everything is ready for the affair. Guests are expected to come masked and dressed in keeping with the Hallowe'en season.

Reception November 1.

The Woman's Guild of St. Luke's Episcopal church will give a reception from 8 to 10 p. m. on November 1 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Manville, 118 West Sixteenth street, in honor of the Rev. and Mrs. Richard A. Hatch. Mr. Hatch has just taken charge of the Episcopal church and is eager to meet the church people of Ada and members of the Episcopal church.

Miss Annie Carroll Simpson has as her guest for the week-end social functions at her home, 19th and Townsend avenue, Miss Marcella Darling, and sister of Edmond, Thomas B. Leahy, of Pawhuska, and Lawrence R. Hazy, of the University of Oklahoma, Norman.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence West have moved from the Kee apartments to their new home on Thirteenth and Stonewall.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Bobbitt left Saturday afternoon for Kansas City where they will attend the convention of the American Legion.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Howard were among other Ada people attending the American Legion convention at Kansas City today.

In The Oil Fields

Nance Well Promising.

Those interested in oil development were given a thrill last Saturday afternoon when the Nance well in section 4-4-5 flowed for an hour. The casing, which had delayed operations, arrived in Ada Friday night and was carried out Saturday. In the afternoon as the casing was started down the well, the oil burst forth, greasing the derrick and running down the branch, a steam of liquid gold. For an hour it kept up the flow. It is believed now the casing can be put in place within the next forty-eight hours and a test of the size made.

This well has aroused increasing interest since it was drilled in. Those who have been watching it say they believe it is a good one and other wells may be expected to go down in rapid succession.

Carter Offset.

Considerable difficulty has been encountered with the Carter-Lowry offset in the northwest of the northwest of 4-4-5. The tools hung in the well at first after the shot, but these were recovered without difficulty. In spite of the bridge, oil rose in the hole a considerable distance, according to a report from the well Sunday.

Transcontinental.

The Transcontinental well at Maxwell is getting ready to drill deeper. The hole is now around 2850 feet.

HARDING PLANS WITHDRAWAL OF U. S. SOLDIERS

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—President Harding was understood to have expressed an opposition today during a conference with Chairman Porter of the house foreign affairs committee to the passage of any resolution providing for the immediate withdrawal of American troops from the Rhine.

The president was said to believe that the war department's policy on gradual withdrawal of troops dealt adequately with the situation. Several such resolutions are pending before the committee, but it was predicted that no such action would be taken on them.

Judge Coffman Here.

District Judge John L. Coffman of Holdenville arrived in the city this morning and presided over a short session of the district court to hear arguments concerning spreading of mandate of record in the Roddie case, in which District Judge J. W. Bolen was disqualified. Judge Coffman signed the order. The Roddie case was reversed by the supreme court and a new trial ordered.

SOME ARE LANDED IN JAIL BECAUSE FINES COME DUE

A number of "guests" were in the city jail this morning, awaiting the day when police authorities will tell them they have served their time and their debt to the city is cleared. These men, for the most part, are held as a result of being unable to pay their fines, incurred several weeks, or probably months ago on a varied list of charges.

Books of the city must be cleared of all back debts, the mayor has declared and police are continuing their campaign to collect them. They report that for the most part debtors manage to get the cash when called upon, but that there are some who must rest for a few days in the city jail. No arrests have yet been made for spitting on the sidewalks. Mayor Kitchens Saturday gave strict instructions to the policemen to watch for those who make this practice in the business section. There are many, he said, who "make an attempt to spit off the walk but do not put forth enough effort." This causes the walk to become filthy and the practice must be stopped, he said. A few arrests will serve as ample notice that the city means to have the practice stopped, he believes.

GOBLINS GALORE TO BE RAMPANT IN ADA TONIGHT

Spooks, blackcats, witches, pumpkins and jack o'lanterns, all announced today the arrival of another Hallowe'en.

Pranks, scares and parties, all in keeping with the occasion, are being planned for tonight by both young and old. The age-old observance of the one day and night of the entire year to which all look forward with anticipation will not be lacking this year in its attraction for Ada, according to the amount of Hallowe'en activity in evidence today.

Although the pranks of old will not be so noticeable this year, the pumpkin headed spooks, blackcat and witch decorations will be as numerous and gay as ever. Participants in the events for this evening will go masked, disguised and under hidden identity. This lends an atmosphere to the affair seldom obtained in other seasonal celebrations and affords an endless amount of fun and amusement for both young and old.

Some there are, indeed, who will awaken to morning to find their doors blocked with a combination of articles, or perhaps some forgetful person will be reminded as he ambles homeward that the one day of the year has arrived when he trips over a stretched rope or other obstacle placed in his path. Some will be disturbed by masquerading boys and girls, dressed to terrorize their victims.

Local dealers in masks and costumes admit that the demand this season is great and that customers desire a varied and unique assortment of masks, costumes and other decorations. Clown garbs, witches hoods and terrors, black masks, spooks and probably "Ku Klux Special" gowns and hoods will constitute the majority of the assortment selected.

Many social events are announced for this evening, several have already been held and others of a more extensive nature are being planned. Churches, lodges, schools and clubs are making preparations today for affairs to be held this evening and practically every person in the city will be given an opportunity to enjoy seasonal celebrations tonight.

MR. BOWSER IS BRAVE

But the Police Do Not Praise Him.

By M. QUAD.

Mr. Bowser was going over to the store on an errand the other evening when he met a man named Jones, with whom he had a slight acquaintance.

Mr. Jones was walking by fast and seemed very much excited, and it was perfectly natural that Mr. Bowser should ask:

"What's up, Mr. Jones—Is any of the family sick?"

"No, Mr. Bowser, but I was going to the police station, and I wish you would go along with me."

"Why do you go to the police station?" queried Mr. Bowser.

"Say, I made a great discovery, and an awful tragedy may be close at hand!"

"Tragedy?"

"Yes, one of the worst tragedies that ever happened in this town. I am glad I met you. You will tell me what to do."

"I can always tell a person what to do!" pompously replied Mr. Bowser. "Go right ahead and tell me about the discovery."

"It is like this," said Mr. Jones. "I was waiting for the car, about six blocks down the street, when I saw a man sneak into an alleyway, between the cobbler shop and the grocer. He carried something under his arm and he carried it mighty carefully. My suspicions were aroused at once."

"That's right," said Mr. Bowser, as he patted him on the shoulder. "Always have suspicions. Go on."

"The man ran out of the other end of the passage, and I went in to see what he had been up to. I found a box in there, which he had left. It was about the size of a cigar box and wrapped up in brown paper. I did not dare to lift it up, but I got down on my knees and listened to see if there was any clockwork inside. I didn't hear anything like a clock, but I did smell something which gave out an awful smell. Does an infernal machine give out an awful smell?"

"Most certainly," was the reply. "They give out a smell of sulphuric acid. That's the way the police find them."

"It was the same kind of a smell that hair dye gives out, but it can't be hair dye."

"No, sir—no, sir! It's an infernal machine! It has been planted there to blow up the country and the grocer, and we must thwart the Irish design. If that bomb, or infernal machine goes off, it will tear down buildings by the dozen and break windows by the hundreds."

"We will send the police right up there!" said Mr. Jones.

"No, we won't do anything of the kind! We will remove that bomb and carry it to the police station!"

"But, excuse me, Mr. Bowser; I don't want to get blown all to atoms and I presume you don't."

"See here, Mr. Jones," said Mr. Bowser, as he swelled out his chest. "This calls for a brave act. It calls for nerve. It calls for presence of mind. I am just the man to fit the place. You can take your stand across the street, and I will go into the passage and bring out that box. I have praise. They might even publish his full-length picture.

Drawing a long breath, he entered the passage and, midway of it he found the cigar box. It was resting on the ground as sweetly and softly as a young lamb. No one, to look at it, would dream that it contained the lives of hundreds or thousands of people. It would blow that grocer a hundred feet high, and the grocer would never again sell butter at 70 cents a pound. It would, at the same time, send the fragments of that cobbler shop four blocks long and the old cobbler who had raised his prices three times would never raise them again. In fact, he would be raised himself and when the fragments of his anatomy came down, the most expert doctor of surgery could not patch them together.

There was the Robin Hood club across the street. There would be about 50 Robins roosting inside and smoking their cigarettes and drinking their champagne. In one instant they would be wiped off the earth, and their blood mixed with brick and water.

"The Captain Hadn't Any Questions to Ask."

There was a church, two blocks down. How many miles in the air the spire of that church would sail when the explosion took place it was hard to estimate.

Other things would happen. The force of the explosion might even reach Mr. Bowser's residence and throw Mrs. Bowser down and stand the cook on her head. The box must be removed at whatever cost.

As Mr. Bowser stooped over to pick it up, he might have murmured: "Now I lay me down to sleep," but, at any rate, he got the box and appeared carrying it with the greatest care. He crossed over to Mr. Jones and received the praise he deserved. Both of them took a long smell of the box. It certainly smelled of sulphuric acid, or the stuff which makes hair dye give out such a beautiful odor.

"Now for the police station," said Mr. Bowser, and they walked on.

The box was being held at arm's length, when they entered the station and walked up to the sergeant's desk. Mr. Bowser was, of course, spokesman. He was breathing very hard when he said:

"Sergeant, I have found a bomb or an infernal machine, and I wish to leave it with you!"

The sergeant looked up in a careless way and pointed to the captain's room. Mr. Bowser and Mr. Jones entered and told their story. The captain hadn't any questions to ask. He carelessly felt for his pocket knife and cut the string and removed the paper. Then he pried up the lid of the box and looked in. An overpowering odor gushed out and he had to turn away his head as he said:

"Say, you boobies, you ought to be locked up for a week for playing such a trick."

"What is it?" asked Mr. Bowser, as he advanced and took a look for himself.

There were six eggs in the box. One of them had become broken. These eggs were anywhere from six to ten years old.

Mr. Bowser and Mr. Jones got out as soon as they could and that ended the tragedy. Mr. Bowser didn't boast to Mrs. Bowser of his courage when he got home, and the papers didn't publish a single line about it.

Raised Rare Orchid From Seed.

The lizard orchid has been saved from extinction by the efforts of a cottager in Kent. He has proved that it is amenable to cultivation from seed. At one time this rarest and most beautiful of British orchids was thought to have entirely disappeared, and the finding of a specimen in Kent after a lapse of many years caused quite a sensation among botanists. Since then only isolated specimens have been found at considerable intervals. Now, however, a cottager named Fox, living at Adisham, near Canterbury, has succeeded in raising a number of plants from seed sown under natural conditions, and has a score or so of plants in bloom.—London Mail.

Square Pegs.

Secretary of State Hughes said at a dinner, apropos of the army of office-seekers that is infesting Washington: "Political appointments should be made carefully. The average political appointment reminds me of an anecdote:

"Louis XV once appointed as royal librarian a certain gay blade named Bignon.

"The appointment was most unsuitable, and when M. d'Argenson, Bignon's uncle, heard of it, he said:

"Excellent, my boy! At last you'll have an opportunity to learn to read."

Cities Urged to Remove Danger of Bread Lines By Municipal Cooperation on Jobless Problem

Do you want a bread line like this in your town all winter?

This scene on the streets of New York is typical of what may happen through the United States, and happen soon, unless the whole nation, through its municipalities, organizes to ward off the unemployment crisis, conservatively estimated as likely to affect 4,000,000 men and their families.

President Harding, during the recent national conference at Washington on unemployment, appealed to the Mayors of every city to organize emergency committees, combining all the interests of the community in a concerted machine to create work for the idle.

Spurce-up campaigns, a public employment bureau, repairs in streets and public buildings, direction of welfare efforts to jobs instead of hand-outs and the stimulation of industry in every possible way are among the steps recommended by the conference.

Nationally, many moves have been made by the Government to relieve the situation. Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce and chairman of the President's Unemployment Conference, has conferred with the heads of the nation's major industries and has secured pledges of cooperation. Legislation looking toward permanent betterment of conditions was recommended by the conference, and specific subjects for such legislation were pointed out.

Every element of the national conference agreed, however, that municipal action is the real hope so far as the emergency is concerned.

Mayors and members of municipal emergency committees throughout the country have been invited to make full use of the hold-over committee, under Colonel Arthur Woods, which will function in the Department of Commerce as a coordinating agency for the ideas and action of local units.

"There can be no crisis in peace-time more deserving of every man's brains and energy than this present unemployment situation," Colonel Woods said in a recent address, "and the only solution is for the nation to rise to the emergency as it did in the crucial days of the war. The bureau in Washington is going to devote itself to practical suggestion and coordination, not theory, and we hope the country will use it freely. This drive is one that no citizen and no community can afford to neglect."

How World Helped in Building America Shown in Exhibition Of Models and Prints in N. Y.

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK.—The contributions of every race of immigrants to the building of America was depicted in exhibitions here at the opening of the "America's Making" exposition in the 71st Regiment Armory under the auspices of the state and city departments of education. Thirty-two racial groups co-operated in the exposition which was planned to help abate racial animosities aroused by the world war.

The exposition which will continue until November 12, consists of exhibits showing by pictures, models and living figures the various industrial, artistic, scientific and historical contributions made to American civilization by immigrants and their descendants. Daily features will be pageants, concerts, tableaux and other living presentations of the story of the immigrant. School children will have an important part in this branch of the exposition.

Tonight there will be a pageant representing the arrival of immigrants in America and on each succeeding day of the exposition pageants will be given showing just what each group has accomplished. On the closing night, November 12, all will unite in a demonstration for a "United America."

Several racial groups have received assurances that delegates to the Washington conference on Far Eastern questions and limitation of armaments will attend the exposition to see how many races have helped in the building of the New World.

Thirty-Two Groups.

Thirty-two groups have collected, arranged and financed exhibits. The idea of the exposition came from the late Frank K. Lane, secretary of the interior in the Wilson administration. The state and city educational authorities undertook promotion of the event and extensive research has been made.

Nearly 600 programs of music and pageantry have been presented within recent weeks by public school pupils and teachers and thousands of essays have been written by school children bearing on what immigrants have done for America as well as what America has done for them and their children.

The Armory has been divided into thirty-two parts for the various exhibits some of which have been arranged at great cost.

The Irish group, desiring to emphasize that leadership has been its most important contribution to America, erected a miniature mountain rising from a lake to show the exploits of men of their race. Models of state capitals, representing Irish governors, and other figures symbolic of Irish activities in industry, invention, labor and other branches of endeavor were shown.

A feature of the Greek exhibit was a 28-ft sponge fishing boat from Florida, the Greeks having been accorded leadership in the sponge fishing industry of America.

English Stress Law.

The English contribution emphasized the contribution of this race to law, political structure, language and education.

The exhibit of the Italians was arranged about a flower garden. Through gateways could be seen statistical pictures and maps showing Italian contribution of population and industry, a symbol statue of labor and a statue of Columbus. Stereopticons constantly flashed views of Italians at work in many lines.

The Syrians illustrate the manufacture of kimonos, wood carving, mother-of-pearl inlay working, and the preparation of pistachio nuts and cigaret tobacco.

The Scottish exhibit included pictures of incidents from American history in which Scotchmen have played a leading part. Many busts of American presidents, scientists, writers, and clergymen of Scottish lineage in all walks of life adorned the walls.

A model of early Alaskan settlement featured the Russian exhibit. Farming communities in the northwest and a model for a coal crusher brought from Mayfield, Pa., were also on exhibition.

Other races had similar exhibits showing in just what lines they have done their bit in the development of America.

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 29.—

"Planned to eliminate speculation, but not to regulate the market; to obtain for the farmer the best market price of the year for his wheat, less only the exact cost of handling and selling, instead of the cost of handling, selling, shipping, brokering, individual commissions—Oklahoma Wheat Growers' association, sponsoring the compulsory pooling of wheat, is forging steadily ahead in this state," said Carl Williams, eleventh member of the state board of directors.

Mr. Williams is the only director appointed who is not a bona fide wheat grower, and was appointed to watch for the public interests, in the working of the association.

The association is the second plan in the Oklahoma field for marketing wheat, the other plan being that of the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., and the two are much the same organization, according to officials of both organizations, though fundamentally they differ widely.

The U. S. Grain Grower plan is one for voluntarily pooling of wheat, where the farmer has the association as one of four or five possible markets for his grain. The Oklahoma Wheat Growers' association members are pledged to sell to the association alone, and are bound by contracts to do so.

Started as One.

The two organizations, started as one, divided at a meeting several months ago at Chicago, when the question of the compulsory pool plan was brought up. The Oklahoma Wheat Growers' association, later organized, was patterned almost exactly after the Oklahoma Cotton Growers' association, which also contains the compulsory pool provision.

In Oklahoma, the Oklahoma Wheat Growers' association now has 4,420 members pledged to pool their wheat for five years. Though not acting as sales agency this year, the association, according to Mr. Williams, plans to be in the field completely organized for the 1921-22 crop.

"This new idea," says Mr. Williams, "developed in California and brought to the Central West by Aaron Sapiro, is that farmers shall unite their forces, hire marketing experts to sell their crop for them, pay the actual cost of selling and divide the remainder of the sales price equally among all the members on a basis of quality and quantity delivered. The first step was the co-operative elevator. We believe the second is the pool. We are sure the pool is necessary first to make sure the grower's wheat will be delivered to the central sales agency, and to make sure the grower will have an agency through which to market his grain. The binding contract we believe necessary for a fixed period of time, to enable the association to procure and make contracts with experts in marketing. Nothing else will enable us to employ the marketing experts who are necessary to the proper marketing and the obtaining of a fair price."

The U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., is proceeding without the compulsory pool with the other plans outlined for use by both associations. Its position is defined by officers as the farmer's marketing agency, seeking to obtain for them the best price for their grain, as is the Oklahoma Wheat Growers' association.

Both concerns, according to their reports, are making progress in the state. C. H. Hyde of Alva is the Oklahoma director of the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc.

The Wheat Growers' association organizations have been incorporated in Kansas and Oklahoma.

Directors of the Wheat Growers' association are: L. W. Shields, Floyd Dail, Dan G. Murly, Ed Brazell, John A. Blubaugh, Robert McClintock, Henry Mueggensborg, J. H. Banks, W. L. Walker, A. B. Lampert and Carl Williams. Its headquarters is at Enid, Oklahoma.

INDEPENDENT IN LEAD FOR CHAIR IN DAKOTA RACE

FARGO, S. D., Oct. 20.—A. R. Nestos, independent, was leading Governor Lynn J. Frazier, non-partisan, by nearly 25,000 votes in returns from 1,153 of the state's 2,094 precincts, unofficially tabulated at midday by independent newspapers from yesterday's recall election aimed at Governor Frazier and two other state officers endorsed by the non-partisan league.

FARGO, N. D., Oct. 29.—R. A. Nestos, independent candidate for governor in yesterday's recall election, early today continued to hold his lead of more than 24,500 votes over his opponent, Governor Lynn J. Frazier, non-partisan. The returns available were from about one-third of the precincts in the state and were from independent strongholds, mostly in the northern cities.

When the precincts in the western part of the state on the Missouri slope come trickling in, and they are slow in coming, the non-partisans are expecting to gain considerable, taking the past election as a criterion.

With 731 of the 2095 precincts in the state reported unofficially, Nestos has 63,800 more than Frazier's 38,990 votes.

The other candidates on the ballot on the independent side were maintaining about the same ratio as the head of the ticket.

When figures from 999 precincts had been tabulated by the independents this morning from yesterday's election, Nestos had a majority of 27,144 over Frazier; Frazier 54,561.

Figures including incomplete returns from all but seven of the state's fifty-three counties.

VALLEY FORGE SOIL TO SPROUT LIBERTY TREE

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 31.—By direction of Governor Sproul the Pennsylvania State Department of Forestry will dig a small quantity of soil from Valley Forge, historic camp grounds of George Washington's troops, and send it to Mill-Edgeville, Ga., to be used in the planting of a "Liberty tree" in that place on Armistice Day. A request was received from the Georgia authorities for soil "to remind the youth of our country that sectional estrangement no longer exists and that in place of it we have a Union of States no man can ever sever."

30 STATE BANKS TO HANDLE LOAN

Ada Listed With Towns To Help Rehabilitate Land With Cattle.

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY.—Cattle loans with funds from the War Finance corporation will be handled by at least a score and ten banks of Oklahoma, with the probability that a great many more will do so, according to information reaching the office of John A. Whitehurst, president of the board of agriculture, and made public by him today.

In answer to a questionnaire he sent to the banks of the state asking if they would co-operate in giving these loans, every bank which filed an answer stated "Yes," and few qualified their answers, in any respect, he said.

"The condition of the cattle industry truly is alarming," President Whitehurst said, "and it indeed is time something was done. We have 800,000 stock cattle less in Oklahoma than we had at statehood, fourteen years ago. Where now there are only about 1,000,000 cattle on Oklahoma farms, formerly there were 1,800,000. The number has decreased greatly in the past few years.

"Where are we to get our meat if the farmer is not given encouragement and sufficient credit to allow the re-stocking of his farm with cattle, or encouraged in the raising of those which he already owns?"

"Thousands of high grade cows, heifers, steers and calves are coming to the stock yards here and can be bought at ridiculously low prices."

Under the plan recently outlined by the War Finance corporation, money will be distributed to state banks complying with the filling out of questionnaires which may be obtained from the president of the state board of agriculture or the state board of agriculture or committee. This money, to be loaned on cattle only, is to be loaned to the banks at 6 percent, and is not to be loaned by them at more than 8 percent.

Banks from the following cities already have agreed to co-operate with the plan to rehabilitate the state with cattle: Buffalo, Addington, Ft. Towson, Taloga, Sewell, Holdenville, Coalgate, Loco, Perkins, Egan, Hitchcock, Hollis, Olustee, Duncan, Terral, Hooker, Claremore, Cherokee, Ada, Cordell, Devol, Jennings, Lawton, Lexington, Seiling.

If you have something to sell, why not advertise it in the Ada Evening News? That is the quick and certain way to reach the buyers of Ada and other towns of the county? Want ads do not cost much.

Why not rent that extra bedroom and have a steady income? Let the News want ads get a roomer.

Stories of Great Scouts

By Elmo Scott Watson

©, Western Newspaper Union.

LEWIS WETZEL, "DEATH WIND OF THE DELAWARES"

Many of the great scouts did not become Indian fighters until they were men, but Lewis Wetzel started early. He killed his first Indian when he was only thirteen years old. Wetzel was born in Virginia in 1752. His father moved to the present site of Wheeling, W. Va., and was killed there by the Indians before the eyes of his sons. Lewis swore eternal enmity against all Redskins.

One day while he and his brother were roaming in the woods they were attacked by Indians. Lewis killed one of the savages and the next instant was hit by a bullet which carried away a piece of his breast bone. Both boys were taken captive. That night while the Indians slept, Wetzel worked loose the things which bound him and then unfasted his brother.

After the boys had fled for about a mile they discovered that their mocassins were torn to shreds. Leaving his brother in hiding, Lewis returned to the Indian camp and, undetected by the sleeping savages, robbed them of two pairs of mocassins as well as a gun and some powder and lead.

The next morning the Indians were hot on their trail and soon were close upon them. As the Indians approached, the boys stepped out of the trail into a clump of bushes, allowing their pursuers to speed past, and then they followed. Soon they heard the Indians coming back and again they stepped into the bushes and hid. The Wetzel boys played this dangerous game of hide-and-seek several times before they finally eluded the savages and returned in safety to their home.

When Lewis Wetzel grew older he crossed over into Ohio and soon became one of the best-known scouts in the country.

Wetzel was called "The Death Wind" by the Delaware who hated him particularly. More than once a Delaware warrior trembled with fear as he heard a shrill, moaning cry echoing through the forest, for it usually was followed soon afterward by a shot from the scout's deadly weapon which ended the Redskin's life.

In his later years Wetzel lost the respect of many people because he began killing all Indians he met, whether hostile or friendly, and several times he was imprisoned for shooting members of peaceable tribes. In his last days he became a lonely, bitter old man until death came to him in 1808.

MICHIGAN WILL HONOR FOCH ON NOVEMBER 7

(By the Associated Press)
DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 31.—Michigan on Nov. 7 will pay honors to Marshal Foch, commander-in-chief of the Allied armies during the war. He will visit Camp Custer and Detroit.

The Marshal is expected to reach Custer about 9 o'clock in the morning. He will be met by a reception committee headed by Governor Groesbeck. The party will go at once to the Roosevelt American Legion Hospital, formerly the community house at Camp Custer. Marshal Foch will dedicate the new hospital.

Arriving in Detroit shortly after noon, Marshal Foch will be entertained at luncheon, will visit an automobile factory and in the evening speak at a mass meeting.

Pupils in Country Schools to Assist With Crop Figures

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 31.—More complete and accurate results in farm statistics and reports of crops throughout the state should be obtained in the future, according to H. H. Schutz, federal crop statistician for Oklahoma, and he is taking steps to obtain the cooperation of all the pupils of the country schools.

In a letter being sent to teachers in these schools, he has asked that crop reporting blanks which are used by the regularly authorized reporters to the department be given the pupils, their use explained, and filled out.

The pupils are asked to take these reports home and make an accurate check of their own communities, place the reports in the proper spaces on the report blanks, and forward them to the statistician, whose headquarters is at Oklahoma City.

Mr. Schutz will undertake then to go over these reports show where they are in error, and without grading them at all simply explain what is wanted and how to keep the reports more accurate, giving reasons why accuracy is necessary.

By this method he hopes to instruct the farmers of the future in the value of co-operation with the federal departments, and to obtain future reporters whose accounts may be relied upon absolutely.

"This is by no means a criticism of our present reporters," Mr. Schutz said, "but rather is the basis for obtaining a great many more reporters who will be accurate and understand the work."

County Farmers Get Desperate To Plant Wheat But no Rain

Farmers in Pontotoc county are getting "desperate" with half their wheat yet to sow, and some barley, and no satisfactory rain in sight. J. B. Hill, county agent reported to the state board of agriculture.

Few of the farmers have disk plows and nearly all of them are unable to plow at all because of the dry condition of the ground.

While the men were talking of the poor prospects for sowing of grains, Agent Hill gave several talks in the raising of dairy and stock cattle, and other livestock, that the entire income of the farm will not be dependent on the grain harvest.

At Allen recently, nearly a score of farmers met to find some way to change their method of farming, and when they were told by the agent what farmers in other counties were doing with cattle and poultry, they adopted resolutions to re-arrange their entire system to allow for livestock the coming year.

CHAIRMAN WHITE MAY ATTEMPT TO HOLD HIS SEAT

(By the Associated Press)
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 31.—Prior to the meeting of the democratic national committee here tomorrow to take stock of its assets and to discuss future plans, Chairman George White of Marietta, Ohio, today issued a formal statement in which he declared he has "no intention of retiring from the chair at this time, unless all elements in the party can agree upon someone to succeed me."

Among the committeemen present the probability of "all elements" coming to a common agreement on a new leader is declared to be remote. Chairman White, it was said, intends to make a determined fight to defeat any effort to unseat him, if such should develop. It is the general consensus of opinion, however, that no such fight will develop, it was explained.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 31.—George White, on his arrival here today for the democratic committee meeting tomorrow, denied reports that he would resign the chairmanship. The chairman said he knew of nothing of a "definite character" which would come up at the meeting.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 31.—An injunction directed at stopping the United Mine Workers of America from efforts to unionize the Williamson coal field of West Virginia, where the miners have been on strike for more than a year, was issued today by Federal Judge A. B. Anderson on the grounds that the union was seeking to restrict trade.

Injunction May Stop Effort to Unionize Williamson Fields

After Judge Anderson's announcement of the order, some delay in its formal issuance was occasioned by a discussion between the court and counsel as to the exact text of the order.

The court did not deny the right of workers to organize but held that the miners' efforts in West Virginia were in furtherance of a conspiracy with operators in organized union fields to shut off competition with non-union mined coal.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

by MARY GRAHAM BONNER

MACK, THE DOG.

"Many of you have heard about me before," said Mack, the dog. "But for those who haven't heard about me I'd like to introduce myself to you, bow-wow. I belong to a little girl named Mildred, and oh, she is such a nice little girl. She saves me the best of bones and always gives me good food. She takes me for walks and also loves me so much. I simply adore her!"

"Simply Adore Her." "I wouldn't be without her for anything and I wouldn't want anyone else to take care of me."

"I am sure she feels the same way about me, for I've heard her tell people so. She wants to have me for her always, or at least as much as she can."

"Of course I can't go to school with her, but I can meet her when she is coming home from school. And I can walk to school with her too."

"Then I know she wouldn't want to have any other dog but her Mack."

"I am an Alredale dog, too, and I have quite a perfect disposition I have been told."

"I never get cross, and really I wouldn't see any reason for getting cross when I have such a lovely home and such a nice mistress who is so kind to me."

"I see no reason at all for getting cross, and I have never seen one so far, and I am sure I never will see any reason for doing such a thing."

"When I am told to smile I do smile. I show my teeth and I give my very best dog grin."

"If anyone thinks that a dog cannot smile they should see Mack, the dog, when he is smiling. Often I smile too when I am not told to smile."

"I always smile when I see Mildred and especially after I have been separated from her for quite a time. And I grin then, too, and bark happily and I jump up and down when she comes near me. I kiss her too."

"Whenever any members of the family come home who have been away I always greet them and tell them how glad I am to see them. I think a dog should do that."

"I'd be very rude if I let them come into the house and went on eating a bone or napping, as I might be doing when they arrived."

"I'd be very rude if I didn't get up and greet them. So I always do."

"But I do not get up and greet them just because I do not want to be rude at all. I get up and bark and wag my tail and smile because I am so glad to see them again. I belong to a nice family, you know, and I'm always glad to see them when they come back from any place they have been visiting."

"But I must tell you of a terrible adventure I had one time. As you can see, it had a happy ending, but for a time it was horrible."

"You can see it had a happy ending, because you see that I am here with Mildred and that I am happy."

"But I was stolen once and carried off in an automobile. And then I was tied up in a shed. How tightly I was tied! I cried and tried to be set free."

"And I knew how Mildred and her family would be worrying about me, not knowing what had happened."

"I did so hope that they hadn't thought I had run away, for I most certainly would never do that."

"I was watched very carefully and the rope with which I was tied was very, very, very thick."

"But all one night I worked at it when I was quite alone. For I had seen that my sad face wouldn't make those who had stolen me let me go, for they had kept me in spite of my face and in spite of my cries."

"All night I worked at the rope and when the dawn was just beginning and the sun was just getting up I was free!"

"Very, very quietly I got away. And then such a time as I had getting home."

"I lost my way a number of times, for I had been taken off a long distance from home. But at last I reached home, after having traveled for three days with practically no food to speak of."

"Some of the rope was still attached to me as I didn't bother to do more than break it away so I could be free and I didn't mind if a long part of it was still attached to my collar."

"And was I glad to get home? And was Mildred glad to see me?"

"Well, those questions aren't such as need any answers!"

DAIRY POINTS

SUNFLOWER IS MADE USEFUL

Experiments Not Sufficiently Developed to Reach Definite Conclusions in Northwest.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Sunflowers are likely to become good for silage material for farmers on irrigated land in the Northwest, according to reports received by the United States Department of Agriculture from Montana. The Mammoth Russian is in much favor, although experiments have been tried with some of the smaller varieties. The sunflowers were drilled in rows 20 inches apart and irrigated. They were put in about the middle of May, but from their frost-resistant qualities it is believed they could be put in at the same time as grain is sown. About 15 pounds of seed were used to the acre on irrigated land, but it was stated that if sunflowers ers are to be raised under dry-land conditions the seed should be put in rows 30 to 36 inches apart.

On the project under observation it was intended to let the sunflowers get fairly well matured, about the same as corn, before putting them in the silo, but as a storm broke them down it was necessary to put them in the silo earlier. The yield was from 30 to 40 tons per acre. Cows fed on sunflower silage kept up the usual flow of milk as well as those which were fed on the grain silage. Some of the big Holstein cows ate as much as 90 pounds per day. No unfavorable results could be noticed in the flavor of the milk. While this experiment has not gone far enough to reach definite conclusions, it indicates that sunflowers may be considered a good crop for silage in some localities.

Farmers Given Better Understanding of Value and Cost of Various Feeds Available.

A series of 26 dairy feeding schools were conducted during the spring months in six New Hampshire counties by county agents, working co-operatively with the United States Department of Agriculture and the State Agricultural college. Seven more are planned. In carrying out these schools lecturing and formal talk have been practically eliminated and the dairy-men are seated at tables, where they figure out for themselves the composition of various rations and compute costs. Much enthusiasm has been aroused.

That the results are worth while is indicated by the statement of a Hooksett farmer, who reported a saving of $1 a day, while another who attended the school at Warner wrote the county agent that he is now saving $36 a month as a result of feeding a ration that he figured out there. The discussion provoked by the farmers figuring these rations gives a better understanding of the value and cost of the various feeds available than any amount of lecturing could possibly accomplish.

WHITE SCOURS CAUSES LOSS

Disease Contracted by Way of Navel or Mouth Soon After Birth—Tablets Worth Trying.

Many calves die of white scours or pneumonia, which is a deadly germ disease born in the calf and contracted by way of the navel or mouth soon after birth. Medicinal treatment usually fails, but triple sulpho-carbolate tablets are well worth trying, under direction of a qualified veterinarian. He should also immunize each new-born calf with polyvalent anti-dysenteric serum and likewise use it in double doses should a case occur. Provide a new clean pen for new-born calves. At birth saturate the stump of the navel of each calf with tincture of iodine and then apply powdered starch. Repeat the treatment daily until the navel is entirely healed. Also cleanse the teats with a saturated solution of boric acid before the calf is allowed to suck for the first time and daily for ten days if it continues to nurse.

RULES FOR FEEDING SILAGE

Good Plan Is to Allow Three Pounds of Material to Every 100 Pounds of Live Weight.

A rule for feeding silage to the dairy cows is: Feed three pounds of silage for every 100 pounds of live weight. A cow weighing 1,000 pounds should receive about 30 pounds. A cow which weighs over 1,500 pounds should receive about 45 pounds of silage per day. Silage is usually fed twice a day, in the morning and evening after milking.

EVOLUTION OF A KICK

CLARENCE "RAM" MORRISON

1921 SOONER FULLBACK

NORMAN, Oct. 31.—(Special)—Clarence E. "Ram" Morrison, University of Oklahoma fullback and punter, is now playing in his second year of Sooners football. Morrison made his first letter with the Missouri Valley conference champions in 1920 by alternating at the churning position with the veteran fullback who made all-Missouri Valley mythical eleven, "Sol" Swatek. Because of injuries to Swatek early in the season this year the younger back has borne the brunt of the fullback position and done all the punting for the Sooners.

He has averaged 47 1-2 yards to the punt out of 31 punts in three games this season.

Morrison is tall, 6 feet, rangy, and weighs 178 pounds. He is a good interference runner, powerful defense man, brilliant punter and kickoff man, accurate passer and his linesman ability earned for him the name of "Ram" his first season with the Sooners.

He is a brother of the famous California university fullback of last season who led the Pacific coast booters in punting and aided greatly in the defeat of the Ohio State eleven last New Year's day. Morrison's oldest brother is fullback on the San Francisco Olympic club eleven and his youngest brother is the only one of the four brothers that is not playing football this season. He is now a student at the University of Oklahoma.

"Ram" Morrison is expected to prove the yard gaining factor with his wonderful punts against the Kansas eleven Saturday, November 5, at Norman should the Sooners be forced on the defense throughout the Jayhawk mix.

Stories of Great Scouts

By Elmo Scott Watson

DAVY CROCKETT, THE HERO OF THE ALAMO

"Be sure you're right, then go ahead," was Davy Crockett's motto. He fought for the right, then went ahead to a glorious death in the Alamo. Crockett was born in Tennessee in 1780. He came of fighting stock for his father, a tavern keeper, had been a soldier in the Revolution. Young Crockett's early years were spent in roaming the Tennessee woods, hunting. He became a renowned bear hunter, a fame which he shared with his favorite rifle, "Old Betsy."

When the Creek Indians went on the war path in 1813 Crockett tossed "Old Betsy" on his shoulder and marched away to fight the Indians. He served as a scout under Gen. Andrew Jackson and was in the great Battle of Tohopeka when "Old Hickory" defeated Weatherford's warriors.

After the Creek war was over Davy returned to Tennessee and entered politics. From magistrate he rose to state legislator and next the renowned bear hunter and scout was sent to congress where he served two terms. In February, 1836, Davy with 12 of his Tennessee friends arrived at the Mission del Alamo where Col. William Travis with a little army of less than 200 men was defying the Mexican dictator, Santa Anna.

Santa Anna had a force of 5,000 men, and although the Texans had a chance to escape before this overwhelming army cut off their retreat, they refused to do so. The Mexican general surrounded the rude little adobe fort. His demand for its surrender was met with scorn. Then he raised the red flag which meant, "No quarter," and attacked.

The long rifles of the Texans moved down the Mexican soldiers driven to the attack. On March 6 Santa Anna prepared for a grand assault. Twenty-five hundred picked men were detailed to be hurled against the fort. The first assault was beaten back with heavy loss. A second failed, but in the third desperate attempt the Mexicans broke into the fort.

After that the fighting was hand to hand. Travis went down and Crockett took command. Outnumbered a hundred to one, Crockett with a few comrades stood with their backs to the wall of the church. One by one his men went down. At last only Davy was left. "Old Betsy" fired her last shot. Then Crockett seized her by the barrel and swung her about his head. There was a short struggle. "Old Betsy" was knocked from his hand. Bayonet thrust and sword cut were rained upon him. A mass of Mexicans struck him. He went down fighting to the last. The Alamo was history.

CO. UNION LAUNCHES CO-OPERATIVE PLAN

A meeting of members of the county Farmers Union was held in Ada Saturday to perfect the organization of a co-operative exchange. Sixty-three individuals subscribed for $1,120 worth of the stock at the rate of $10 per share and it was stated that some of the locals in the county had already taken subscriptions which will be turned in later. It is proposed to incorporate for $10,000.

The stockholders elected the following board of directors: G. W. Gough, J. B. Faber, J. O. McMinn, Albert Simpkins, L. D. Brandon, W. B. Walker and T. T. Akers. The directors organized by electing G. W. Gough president and Albert

Simpkins secretary-treasurer. The directors will elect a manager in a short time and further details will be worked out as soon as possible.

It is proposed to arrange to make shipments of farm produce in car lots, each member of the organization putting in what he has to dispose of, thus getting the benefit of better freight rates, and to buy implements and other things needed by the members in a similar manner. Just what lines will be carried will be decided later when the organization is ready to open for business.

ADVERTISING WILL HELP RESTORE NORMAL BUSINESS

By WILLIAM H. RANKIN

Advertising is more necessary today to Manufacturers and Retailers than ever before. It can be used to help restore the proper balance of trade, produce more work through emptying the dealers' shelves. The sooner any business—and especially the retail business—price their present inventories so that the public will rush in and buy, the sooner salesmen who now have goods to sell will have an opportunity to get real substantial orders from the Retailers.

Orders from Retailers will help the Manufacturers make up their minds to help sell their goods to the Consumer through advertising. Such advertising—provided the price and the quality of the merchandise are right—will help the Retailer sell the Consumer at less cost than through any other means.

When you stop to consider that an advertiser may use a National or local newspaper campaign at a cost of 1-10 of a cent per home reached, you can readily understand why newspaper advertising pays so well.

If advertising can be used to restore proper buying by the Consumer—and I know it can if properly used—then automatically the unemployment problem will be solved and solved quickly.

So let us all set about to see what we can do to help solve this unemployment problem by getting behind a "Every American build a home" campaign—and also through our efforts to help the Retailers clear their shelves through energetic and persistent advertising and Salesmanship.
